Herb Scarf has alerted me to an incomplete attribution in our (S,s) article, one that he himself has previously corrected in his "Comments on "Optimal Policies for a Multi-Echelon Inventory Problem" in Vol. 50 of Management Science, December 2004, pp. 1791-1793. In addition to Andrew Clark, Herb Karr of the Logistics Department at RAND was actively involved in computing optimal inventory policies in the period that preceded the original proof of optimality.
