

August 24, 2020

Disclosure Statement

I herewith declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in the paper:

“Self-Persuasion: Evidence from Field Experiments at International Debating Competitions” by Peter Schwardmann, Egon Tripodi and Joël van der Weele.

Our work related to the article has been financed by the CRC TRR 190 Rationality and Competition, the Research Priority Area Behavioral Economics at the University of Amsterdam, the Dutch Science Foundation (NWO), the European University Institute and the Russell Sage Foundation. However, these organization cannot be considered an “interested” party more than for providing funding for economic research.

I have no other disclosures.

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'Joël van der Weele', with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Joël van der Weele