

I have no conflicts of interest to disclose related to the research in the paper “Simplicity Equivalents.” The research in this paper was supported in part by the US National Science Foundation under grant SES-1949366. I received IRB approval from UC Santa Barbara for the experiment reported in the paper prior to running it.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Ryan Oprea', with a stylized, cursive script.
