Disclosure Statement for Virginia Minni

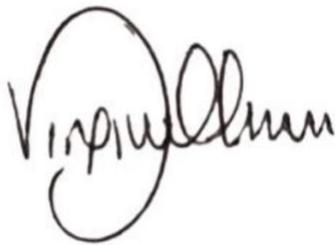

“Global Managers, Local Workers: Wage Setting Inside a Multinational Firm”

The author declares that she has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

The author gratefully acknowledges funding from the ESRC and the STICERD Doctoral Grant at the London School of Economics.

The empirical results in this paper are derived from a proprietary dataset consisting of internal personnel records from a large multinational. It is unfortunately not possible to make these data public but all the computer programs can be made available online for replication and for interested scholars.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Virginia Minni". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large, prominent initial "V".
