

Economic Effects of Environmental Crises: Evidence from Flint, Michigan

Peter Christensen

Disclosure Statement

The authors disclose that they were retained by Flint plaintiffs in a federal lawsuit seeking compensation for damages due to the crisis (Carthan, et al. v. Snyder, et al., No. 16-cv-10444-JEL-MKM). Keiser and Lade were retained on January 28, 2020. Christensen was retained on March 17, 2020. This paper was first submitted to the journal on June 20, 2019. A major revision was submitted on January 1, 2021. A second major revision was submitted on November 29, 2021. The final version of the paper was submitted on April 27, 2022.

For other work not related to this paper, Christensen discloses recent funding from the USDA, NSF, Sloan Foundation, Russell Sage Foundation, National Bureau of Economic Research, Poverty Action Lab (J-PAL), Discovery Partners Institute, and the Illinois Institute for Sustainability, Energy and Environment. Christensen further discloses free data access to the Zillow ZTRAX housing transaction data.

This project was approved by IRB.